2025 Final PFWR Mock Draft			Anthony Macari
TEAM	Team Needs	Mock Pick	Fit
1) Tennessee Titans	QB, Edge, WR, OT, LB	Cam Ward, QB, Miami	6015, 219 lbs, 4.68 40-time, RAS N/A
The Titans' 3-14 record and roster turnover highlight multiple glaring needs.	Draft Goal: The Titans aim to secure a franchise quarterback to anchor their rebuild, while adding offensive weapons and defensive playmakers to address critical roster holes.	Ward is a poised pocket passer with above-average arm talent and sneaky mobility, excelling in rhythm but needing polish on deep-ball accuracy and decision-making under pressure. His leadership and 2024 production (4,313 yards, 39 TDs) make him a high-upside franchise QB prospect.	Fit: Ward's quick release and playmaking ability align with Brian Callahan's pro-style offense, offering a dynamic leader to elevate the Titans' passing game and complement Calvin Ridley. His mobility helps navigate a shaky offensive line.
2) Cleveland Browns	QB, WR, OT, E, DT	Travis Hunter, WR/CB, Colorado	6003, 188 lbs, 4.45 40-time, RAS N/A
The Cleveland Browns, after a 3-14 season, hold the No. 2 pick and $49M in cap space. Deshaun Watson's injury leaves QB unstable, with thin WR depth beyond Jerry Jeudy. The offensive line needs a left tackle, and the defense, led by Myles Garrett, seeks younger edge and tackle talent. Ten draft picks offer hope for a quick turnaround.	Draft Goal: The Browns aim to address their quarterback uncertainty while adding a high-impact playmaker to spark the offense or defense, leveraging their No. 2 pick and 10 total selections.	Hunter's exceptional instincts, athleticism, and 2024 production (96 catches, 1,258 yards, 15 TDs; 4 INTs, 11 PBUs) make him a generational talent. His lean frame raises minor durability concerns, but his football IQ and playmaking project him as an immediate NFL impact player.	Hunter's elite ball skills and versatility as a two-way star provide a dynamic weapon for Kevin Stefanski's offense or Jim Schwartz's 4-3 defense, addressing WR or CB needs while adding star power.
3) New York Giants	QB, DT, IOL, E, CB	Abdul Carter, EDGE, Penn State	6030, 250 lbs, 4.48 40-time, RAS N/A
Team Situation: The Giants, coming off a 3-14 season, face intense pressure on GM Joe Schoen and HC Brian Daboll to deliver after signing veterans Russell Wilson and Jameis Winston as short-term QB fixes, with a roster bolstered by Malik Nabers but plagued by a weak offensive line and inconsistent defense.	Draft Goal: Secure a long-term franchise quarterback to anchor the offense, while addressing defensive line and offensive line deficiencies with their eight picks, including four in the top 105.	Carter is an explosive edge rusher with a lightning-quick first step and bend, recording 12 sacks and 18 TFLs in 2024, though he needs to refine run defense and add bulk.	Abdul Carter's explosive first-step and relentless motor as an edge rusher would amplify the Giants' defensive front, creating a formidable trio with Brian Burns and Kayvon Thibodeaux. Carter could anchor New York's defense as a transformative playmaker for years to come.
4) New England Patriots	WR, OT, EDGE, CB, IOL	Will Campbell, OT, LSU	6057, 319 lbs, 4.98 40-time, RAS N/A
Following a 3-14 season, the Patriots are rebuilding around rookie QB Drake Maye, with a strong defensive core featuring Christian Gonzalez but an offense hindered by a weak offensive line and limited playmakers beyond DeMario Douglas.	Draft Goal: Enhance the defense with a high-impact pass rusher while using eight picks, including three in the top 70, to add offensive weapons and protection for Maye to support his development.	Campbell is an agile, technically sound tackle with excellent footwork and balance, excelling in pass protection with 2024 tape showing zero sacks allowed, though he needs added power for run blocking.	Fit: Campbell's pass-protection skills anchor the left side to protect promising 2nd year QB Drake Maye
5) Jacksonville Jaguars	QB, CB, WR, S, OT	Mason Graham, DT, Michigan	6034, 296 lbs, 5.10 40-time, RAS N/A
After a 3-14 season, the Jaguars are at a crossroads, with Trevor Lawrence's regression and an inconsistent roster prompting a focus on rebuilding the offensive line and secondary, despite a talented core.	Draft Goal: Secure a cornerstone offensive tackle to protect Lawrence and stabilize the offense, while using seven picks to address secondary and skill-position needs to boost competitiveness in the AFC South.	Graham is a powerful, technically sound interior lineman with a low center of gravity and disruptive hands, posting 7.5 TFLs in 2024, though his pass-rush arsenal needs expansion; he was a two-time team captain at Michigan.	Mason Graham's quickness, strength, and technical prowess as a defensive tackle would fortify the Jaguars' interior line, complementing edge rushers Travon Walker and Josh Hines-Allen.
6) Las Vegas Raiders	QB, OT, WR, CB, EDGE	Ashton Jeanty, RB, Boise State	5084, 211 lbs, 4.42 40-time, RAS N/A
After a 2-15 season in 2024, the Raiders are rebuilding with $44M in cap space and eight draft picks, seeking to replace Aidan O'Connell at QB while addressing a weak offensive line and thin skill-position group, bolstered by a defensive front led by Maxx Crosby.	Draft Goal: Add a dynamic offensive playmaker to spark the attack and support a potential new QB, using early picks to strengthen the line and secondary to build a competitive roster.	Jeanty is a compact, explosive runner with elite elusiveness and vision, amassing 2,497 yards and 29 TDs in 2024, though his pass protection needs work.	Fit: Jeanty's game-changing ability enhances Antonio Pierce's run-heavy offense, complementing Brock Bowers and reducing pressure on the QB, providing a reliable weapon to jumpstart the Raiders' rebuilding offense.
7) New York Jets	OT, WR, EDGE, S, QB	Armand Membou, OT, Missouri	6042, 332 lbs, 4.91 40-time, RAS N/A
After a disappointing 4-13 season in 2024, the Jets face uncertainty with Aaron Rodgers departure and a roster hampered by a porous offensive line and inconsistent playmakers, despite a talented defense led by Sauce Gardner and Quinnen Williams.	Draft Goal: Bolster the offensive line to protect Fields or a new QB, while adding offensive weapons and defensive depth with eight draft picks to regain AFC East competitiveness.	Membou is an athletic tackle with smooth lateral movement and flexibility, excelling in pass protection with zero sacks allowed in 2024, though he needs to add functional strength for run blocking.	Fit: Membou's agility and pass-blocking prowess anchor the left tackle spot in Nathaniel Hackett's offense, shielding Rodgers or a rookie QB and supporting Breece Hall's run game, providing a cornerstone for an offense needing stability.
8) Carolina Panthers	ER, CB, WR, S, OG	Jalon Walker, LB, Georgia	6020, 243 lbs, 4.50 40-time, RAS N/A
After a 5-12 season in 2024, the Panthers are building around QB Bryce Young under HC Dave Canales, with a bolstered defense featuring Jaycee Horn and Derrick Brown but needing more pass-rush and offensive weapons to compete in the NFC South.	Draft Goal: Add a disruptive defensive lineman or edge rusher to complement Brown, while using nine picks, including eight in the first five rounds, to enhance the secondary and provide Young with additional targets.	Walker is a dynamic linebacker with sideline-to-sideline range and pass-rush ability, recording 6.5 sacks and 10 TFLs in 2024, though his run instincts need polish; fun factoid—he was nicknamed "The Freak" at Georgia for his rare athleticism.	Jalon Walker's explosive pass-rushing and versatile linebacker skills would ignite the Panthers' defense, filling their need for a dynamic edge in Ejiro Evero's 3-4 scheme.
9) New Orleans Saints	QB, OT, WR, CB, EDGE	Mykel Williams, EDGE, Georgia	6051, 260 lbs, 4.62 40-time, RAS N/A
Following a 6-11 season in 2024, the Saints face a transitional year with Derek Carr's contract uncertainty and a roster depleted by cap issues, relying on a solid defense	Draft Goal: Secure a versatile defensive playmaker or offensive lineman to stabilize the roster, using seven picks to address quarterback uncertainty and bolster the skill positions	Williams is a physically imposing edge rusher with explosive power, recording 7 sacks in 2024, though he needs to refine technique; he suffered an ankle injury in September 2024 but returned to full health.	Mykel Williams' rare blend of size, speed, and power as an edge rusher would elevate the Saints' pass rush, complementing Cam Jordan's veteran presence. His ability to disrupt both passing and running plays fits seamlessly into the Saints aggressive defensive front.

10) Chicago Bears	OT, EDGE, DT, WR, G	Tyler Warren, TE, Penn State	6054, 256 lbs, 4.68 40-time, RAS N/A
After a 7-10 season in 2024, the Bears are focused on supporting QB Caleb Williams, with a promising offense featuring D.J. Moore and Cole Kmet but a defense needing pass-rush help and an offensive line requiring upgrades to protect their young signal-caller.	Draft Goal: Strengthen the offensive line to protect Williams and enhance the run game, while using nine picks, including three in the top 75, to add defensive playmakers and depth at skill positions	Warren is a massive tight end with soft hands and deceptive speed, hauling in 49 catches for 702 yards in 2024, though his blocking consistency needs improvement; he was a team captain at Penn State in 2024.	An elite TE is every young QBs security blanket and Warren could be a dynamic weapon for Caleb Williams to rely on.
11) San Francisco 49ers	OT, CB, DT, WR, S	Kelvin Banks Jr., OT, Texas	6051, 315 lbs, 5.16 40-time, RAS 8.25
After a 7-10 season in 2024, the 49ers remain contenders but face challenges with an aging offensive line, a secondary needing youth. Team in transition.	Draft Goal: Bolster the secondary or offensive line to maintain defensive dominance and protect Brock Purdy, using eight picks to add depth and future starters in Kyle Shanahan's dynamic offense and aggressive defense.	Banks is a smooth, athletic tackle with long arms and elite pass-blocking technique, allowing just one sack in 2024, though he needs more strength for run blocking; he was a team captain at Texas in 2024.	Fit: Banks' quick feet and pass-protection skills anchor the left tackle spot for Brock Purdy giving him time to operate.
12) Dallas Cowboys	RB, DT, OT, WR, CB	Matthew Golden, WR, Texas	5110, 191 lbs, 4.29 40-time, RAS N/A
After an 8-9 season in 2024, the Cowboys are retooling around Dak Prescott, with a strong offensive core but a defense needing interior line help and a run game lacking impact post-Tony Pollard.	Add a dynamic offensive weapon or defensive lineman to boost scoring and run defense, using seven picks to address depth at tackle and secondary in Mike McCarthy's balanced offense.	Golden is a blazing-fast receiver with polished route-running and deep-ball tracking, recording 76 catches for 987 yards and 9 TDs in 2024, though his smaller frame limits contested catches; fun factoid—he ran the eighth-fastest 40-yard dash (4.29) among WRs since 2013 at the 2025 Combine	Fit: Golden's elite speed and inside/outside versatility give the Cowboys the ability to spread the field, and help open up the run game underneath. Cowboys simply need to add more dynamic playmakers to the O, and Golden fits the bill.
13) Miami Dolphins	CB, OT, DT, S, WR	Will Johnson, CB, Michigan	6016, 194 lbs, 4.56 40-time, RAS N/A
After an 8-9 season in 2024, the Dolphins are retooling around Tua Tagovailoa and Tyreek Hill, but Jalen Ramsey's trade talks create a glaring cornerback need, alongside an injury-prone offensive line and a defense needing youth	Draft Goal: Secure a starting cornerback to replace Ramsey if the situation is not resolved with his demanding a trade, using 10 picks, including eight in the first five rounds, to also fortify the offensive line and add defensive depth for Mike McDaniel's explosive offense.	Johnson is a long, physical corner with elite ball skills and press-man coverage ability, recording 4 INTs in 2024, though he lacks top-end speed; he suffered shoulder and toe injuries in 2024.	Fit: Johnson's press-man prowess and length will help a secondary that had issues before its best DB demanded a trade. When Josh Allen is your Daddy, you better stock up on physical corners.
14) Indianapolis Colts	CB, S, TE, WR, QB	Colston Loveland, TE, Michigan	6056, 248 lbs, 4.65 40-time, RAS N/A
After a 7-10 season in 2024, the Colts are building around QB Anthony Richardson, with a potent offense featuring Jonathan Taylor but a secondary struggling beyond	Draft Goal: Bolster the secondary with a versatile safety to improve pass defense, using eight picks to add tight end or receiver depth to support Richardson in an RPO-heavy offense.	Loveland is a fluid tight end with elite receiving skills, recording 56 catches for 582 yards and 4 TDs in 2024, though his blocking needs work; fun factoid—he was nicknamed "The Wolverine" at Michigan for his clutch plays in their 2023 title run.	Fit: Loveland's YAC ability and red-zone prowess will help Anthony Richardson tremendously giving him a reliable security blanket.
15) Atlanta Falcons	EDGE, CB, QB, WR, S	Shemar Stewart, EDGE, Texas A&amp;M	6050, 267 lbs, 4.59 40-time, RAS 10.00
After an 8-9 season in 2024, the Falcons are retooling, with a dynamic offense featuring Drake London and Bijan Robinson but a defense lacking pass-rush juice in their 3-4 scheme.	Draft Goal: Add a premier edge rusher to boost the defense, using eight picks to address secondary depth and potential offensive upgrades for Raheem Morris' balanced attack.	Stewart is a twitchy edge rusher with elite length and disruptive upside, recording 8 sacks in 2024, though he needs to polish hand usage and run defense; he was suspended for a team rules violation in 2023.	Fit: Stewart's explosive pass-rush ability will aid a defense that struggled to pressure the QB.
16) Arizona Cardinals	CB, EDGE, WR, DT, OT	James Pearce Jr., EDGE, Tennessee	6052, 245 lbs, 4.47 40-time, RAS 9.4
After a 7-10 season in 2024, the Cardinals are building around QB Kyler Murray, with an offense bolstered by Marvin Harrison Jr. but a defense needing playmakers in the secondary and front, under Jonathan Gannon's aggressive 4-3 scheme.	Draft Goal: Strengthen the defense by adding to the cornerback position and an edge rusher early and offensive depth later in the draft.	Pearce is a slender, speed-based edge rusher with an elite first step, recording 9.5 sacks in 2024, though he needs bulk for run support; he was a team captain at Tennessee in 2024.	Fit: Pearce's pass-rush explosiveness will help the back end.
17) Cincinnati Bengals	DT, OT, WR, CB, EDGE	Mike Green, EDGE, Marshall	6031, 251 lbs, 4.62 40-time, RAS N/A
After a 9-8 season in 2024, the Bengals missed the playoffs but remain contenders with Joe Burrow and Ja'Marr Chase, though a defense needing pass-rush help	Draft Goal: Add a dynamic edge rusher to boost defensive pressure, using seven picks to address interior line depth	Green is a relentless edge rusher with a quick first step, recording 17 sacks and 22 TFLs in 2024, though he needs to add bulk for NFL run defense; fun factoid—he was nicknamed "The Green Reaper" at Marshall for his knack for finishing plays.	Fit: Green's speed and pass-rush arsenal will help a Bengals defense that made every game a shoot out.
18) Seattle Seahawks	OT, DT, G, EDGE, S	Grey Zabel, IOL, N Dakota St	6060 312 RAS 9.48
After a 9-8 season in 2024, the Seahawks are retooling under new HC Mike Macdonald, with a balanced offense led by Geno Smith and DK Metcalf but a defense needing pass-rush help and an offensive line requiring upgrades in Macdonald's hybrid scheme.	Draft Goal: Add a versatile edge rusher to elevate the defense, using eight picks to fortify the offensive line and secondary for Ryan Grubb's dynamic offense.	Zabel had a great post season, proving he belongs with the elite with a stellar Senior Bowl week and combine.	His 6'6", 312-pound frame, combined with elite athleticism—evidenced by a 9.48 RAS and standout Senior Bowl performance—makes him a plug-and-play guard or center in Klint Kubiak's outside-zone scheme.
19) Tampa Bay Buccaneers	EDGE, CB, WR, OT, S	Jihaad Campbell, LB, Alabama	6027, 235 lbs, 4.52 40-time, RAS 9.88
After a 9-8 season and playoff appearance in 2024, the Buccaneers are retooling around Baker Mayfield, with a potent offense featuring Mike Evans but a defense needing pass-rush help and secondary depth under Todd Bowles' aggressive 3-4 scheme.	Draft Goal: Add a dynamic edge rusher to bolster the defense, using following picks to address cornerback and offensive skill positions	Campbell is a rangy linebacker with elite coverage skills and sideline-to-sideline speed, recording 88 tackles and 3.5 sacks in 2024, though he needs to improve run fits; he was a team captain at Alabama in 2024.	Fit: Campbell's coverage and pursuit fit Bowles' aggressive hybrid defense as a 3 down backer.
20) Denver Broncos	RB, WR, OT, EDGE, DT	Omarion Hampton, RB, North Carolina	5116, 221 lbs, 4.46 40-time, RAS 9.70

After a surprising 10-7 season and a Wild Card playoff appearance in 2024, the Broncos are building around QB Bo Nix, with a top-tier offensive line (No. 1 in run block win rate, 74.9%) and a stout defense led by Patrick Surtain II, but a lackluster run game (16th in rushing yards) and thin WR corps beyond Courtland Sutton demand upgrades in Sean Payton's pass-heavy offense.	Draft Goal: Add a high-impact running back or wide receiver to elevate Nix's supporting cast, using following picks to also address offensive line depth and defensive playmakers for Vance Joseph's 3-4 defense, potentially trading up for a top-tier defender.	Hampton is a powerful, patient runner with quick cuts and receiving ability, rushing for 1,550 yards and 13 TDs in 2024, though his pass protection needs refinement; fun factoid—he was nicknamed “The Human Bowling Ball” at UNC for his ability to bulldoze defenders.	Fit: Hampton's three-down skill set and reliable hands will take pressure of Bo Nix, and help create a more balanced offense.
21) Pittsburgh Steelers	QB, RB, OT, CB, DT	Shedeur Sanders, QB, Colorado	6014, 212 lbs, 4.68 40-time, RAS N/A
After a 10-7 season and playoff appearance in 2024, the Steelers are transitioning at QB with Russell Wilson aging, but boast a stout defense led by T.J. Watt, needing interior line help to replace aging Cameron Heyward in Teryl Austin's 3-4 scheme.	Draft Goal: Fortify the defensive line with a dominant nose tackle to anchor the run defense, address quarterback and offensive line needs for Arthur Smith's run-heavy offense.	Player Summary Evaluation: Sanders is a polished pocket passer with elite accuracy and anticipation, thriving in rhythm but limited by average arm strength and mobility, making him a high-floor prospect with 2024 stats of 4,134 yards, 37 TDs, and 74% completion.	Fit: Sanders' precision and football IQ will give the Steelers a QB capable of managing games for Mike Tomlin. Tomlin's Steelers have the right culture for the Sanders family to succeed.
22) Los Angeles Chargers	WR, TE, CB, DT, OT	Kenneth Grant, DT, Michigan	6035, 331 lbs, 5.00 40-time, RAS N/A
After a 10-7 season and playoff appearance in 2024, the Chargers are building around QB Justin Herbert, with a defense without Joey Bosa and an offense lacking a dynamic WR2 beyond Ladd McConkey and needing tight end help in Greg Roman's run-heavy scheme.	Draft Goal: Add a versatile wide receiver to stretch defenses for Herbert, using eight picks to address tight end, cornerback, and defensive line depth for Jesse Minter's 4-3 defense, prioritizing playmakers to complement Roman's play-action attack.	Grant is a massive, agile defensive tackle with exceptional run-clogging ability, posting 5 TFLs in 2024, though his pass-rush consistency needs growth; he was a team captain at Michigan in 2024.	Fit: Harbough dips into his Michigan well to get a foundational piece of the defense to build around.
23) Green Bay Packers	CB, OT, DT, S, WR	Jahdae Barron, CB, Texas	5106, 194 lbs, 4.39 40-time, RAS N/A
After an 11-6 season and playoff appearance in 2024, the Packers are contending around QB Jordan Love, with a dynamic offense led by Christian Watson but a secondary needing depth beyond Jaire Alexander and an offensive line requiring reinforcement in Jeff Hafley's 4-3 scheme.	Draft Goal: Strengthen the secondary with a versatile and uber athletic corner to bolster pass defense, using nine picks to address offensive tackle and defensive line depth for Adam Stenavich's zone-based offense.	Barron is a feisty, physical corner with excellent press technique and short-area quickness, tallying 3 INTs in 2024, though his zone awareness and tackling need polish; he was a team captain at Texas in 2024.	Fit: Barron's press-man skills and tenacity will bolster a defense needing to upgrade its secondary.
24) Minnesota Vikings	CB, DT, WR, G, S	Nick Emmanwori, S, South Carolina	6031, 220 lbs, 4.38 40-time, RAS 10.00
After an 11-6 season and playoff appearance in 2024, the Vikings are contending around QB J.J. McCarthy, with a dynamic offense led by Justin Jefferson but a secondary needing playmakers beyond Byron Murphy Jr. in Brian Flores' aggressive 3-4 scheme.	Draft Goal: Bolster the secondary with a physical cornerback to replace aging veterans, using seven picks to address defensive line and offensive depth for Kevin O'Connell's pass-heavy offense.	2 INTs, 67 tackles, rare size (6'3", 231 lbs), speed (4.46 40-time), versatility. Fits as a box player or deep safety, replacing Consensus ~36th, impact is high ceiling, but safety is less urgent than EDGE.	Fit: Emmanwori's rare size, speed, and ball skills make him a versatile safety giving the Vikes a dynamic playmaker for its secondary.
25) Houston Texans	LB, DT, CB, WR, G	Josh Simmons, OT, Ohio State	6050, 310
After a 10-7 season and playoff appearance in 2024, the Texans are contending around QB C.J. Stroud, with a dynamic offense led by Nico Collins but a defense needing linebacker and interior line help in DeMeco Ryans' 4-3 scheme.	Draft Goal: Add a versatile linebacker to enhance run defense and coverage, using eight picks to address defensive line and offensive depth for Bobby Slowik's pass-heavy offense.	Josh Simmons, Ohio State's standout offensive tackle, was a projected top-15 pick before a torn patellar tendon in October 2024 cut his season short. Recent updates from the NFL Combine and medical rechecks indicate he's ahead of schedule in rehab, with positive evaluations suggesting full clearance by training camp.	An agile big man who pre-injury performed at an All-Big Ten caliber play, would be an ideal fit for the Texans' offensive line, addressing their need for a long-term left tackle to protect C.J. Stroud.
26) Los Angeles Rams	DT, EDGE, CB, QB, OT	Tetairoa McMillan, WR, Arizona	6041, 219 lbs, 4.55* RAS N/A
After an 11-6 season and playoff appearance in 2024, the Rams are contending around QB Matthew Stafford, with a potent offense led by Puka Nacua but a defense needing pass-rush help post-Aaron Donald and a long-term QB plan in Chris Shula's 3-4 scheme.	Draft Goal: Secure a quarterback to develop behind Stafford, using eight picks (including Nos. 90, 101) to address defensive line, edge rusher, and offensive line depth for Sean McVay's pass-heavy offense.	McMillan is a big-bodied X-receiver with elite contested-catch ability (1,319 yards, 8 TDs, 35 contested catches since 2023, per PFF), though he needs speed (4.55) and route polish; fun factoid—he was nicknamed “T-Mac” at Arizona for his highlight-reel grabs reminiscent of Terrell Owens.	The Rams add a big, reliable target to help replace Cooper Kupp, opposite Puka.
27) Baltimore Ravens	OT, CB, G, EDGE, S	Derrick Harmon, DT, Oregon	6044, 313 lbs 4.95
After a 12-5 season and AFC North title in 2024, the Ravens fell in the divisional round. They're built around QB Lamar Jackson and a top-ranked offense with DeAndre Hopkins, but the offensive line needs depth and the defense requires secondary and pass-rush help in Zach Orr's 3-4 scheme.	Draft Goal: Bolster the offensive line to protect Jackson and sustain the run game, using 11 picks (including Nos. 59, 91) to address secondary, edge rusher, and defensive line depth for Todd Monken's run-heavy offense.	A long wide anchor that can clog lanes and dominate at the point of attack.	Fits the Ravens mold of relying on a stout d Tackle to free up the Bs to wreak havoc.
28) Detroit Lions	EDGE, G, DT, CB, WR	Donovan Ezeiruaku, E, BC	6024 248 lbs
After a 15-2 season and NFC North title in 2024, the Lions fell 45-31 to Washington in the divisional round, hampered by Aidan Hutchinson's tibia/fibula injury (out for 2025 regular season, per Web Result 14). With QB Jared Goff leading a top-scoring offense (33.2 PPG, 1st) alongside Amon-Ra St. Brown, and new coordinators John Morton (OC) and Kelvin Sheppard (DC) the defense needs pass-rush help in Sheppard's aggressive 4-3 scheme	Draft Goal: Add a high-motor edge rusher to replace Hutchinson's impact, using seven picks (Nos. 29, 60, 102, 130, 196, 228, 244) to address guard, defensive tackle, and secondary depth for Morton's high-octane offense	Highly productive explosive edge rusher. Slightly undersized	Fits the blue collar, hard working over achieving profile befitting of the culture Dan Campbell has established in Detroit. Helps the pass rush if Hutchinson is slow to recover.
29) Washington Commanders	Edge, CB, OT, LB, TE	Trey Amos, CB, Ole Miss	6006, 195 lbs, 4.43 40-time, RAS 8.37
After a 12-5 season and NFC Championship loss in 2024, the Commanders are contending around QB Jayden Daniels (4,459 total yards, 31 TDs), with a dynamic offense boosted by trades for Deebo Samuel and Laremy Tunsil but a defense needing pass-rush help in Dan Quinn's 4-3 scheme	Draft Goal: Add a versatile tight end to complement Daniels, using five picks (Nos. 29, 61, 128, 205, 245) to address edge rusher, running back, and secondary depth for Kliff Kingsbury's pass-heavy offense	Amos is a long, physical corner with strong man-coverage skills, recording 3 INTs and 8 PBUs in 2024, though his tackling consistency needs work; he suffered a minor hamstring injury in 2024 but fully recovered.	Fit: Amos' press-man prowess and length fit Flores' blitz-heavy 3-4 defense, pairing with Murphy to disrupt receivers, supporting McCarthy's offense by generating turnovers and allowing Minnesota to target linemen later.

30) Buffalo Bills	CB, Edge, DT, S, WR, RB	Maxwell Hairston, CB, Kentucky	5112, 183 lbs, 4.28 40-time, RAS 9.63
The Bills, after a 12-5 season and a divisional round loss in 2024, are at a crossroads to maximize their Super Bowl window with Josh Allen leading a top-scoring offense. Their defense, particularly the pass rush, ranked 25th in sacks (41 total), highlighting a desperate need for an edge rusher, and consistent playoff breakdowns, indicates the secondary is in need of an overhaul for them to take that next step.	The Bills have a gaping hole at CB opposite Christian Benford, despite the re-signing of Goalie Acaemy legend, TreDavious White. DT and WR are other needs, but given the depth at those positions, CB makes the most sense with their first pick.	Hairston is an instinctive corner with elite ball skills, recording 6 INTs (3 pick-sixes) over 2023-24, though his slight frame and tackling inconsistencies need work; he suffered a shoulder injury in 2024, limiting him to seven games	Hairston's zone coverage instincts and turnover creation fit McDermott and Babich's Zone based 4-3 defense, pairing with Benford to disrupt passing lanes, supporting Brady's offense by generating takeaways while line needs are addressed later.
31) Kansas City Chiefs	WR, TE, Edge, S, RB	Emeka Egbuka, WR, Ohio State	6007, 202 lbs, 4.42 40-time, RAS 9.72
AFC Champion Chiefs failed to threepart. Their offense looked pedestrian at times last season, despite earning the 1 seed despite another Super Bowl appearance. They need to keep adding weapons for Mahomes that complements last year's 1st round pick Xavier Worthy.	The Defense was elite in 2024, but an aging Kelce, and a dearth of weapons stalled Mahomes' dynamic offense. Offensive line help and a reliable weapon are must adds.	Egbuka is a polished slot WR with elite route-running, amassing 1,151 yards and 9 TDs in 2024 (89.1 PFF receiving grade). His YAC ability (6.7 YAC/reception) shines, though his 4.42 40-time limits deep speed; fun factoid—he earned the nickname “The Buckeye Bullet” for a game-winning TD vs. Michigan with a spin move that went viral.	Fit: Egbuka's reliability and YAC skills fit Reid's offense, acting as a WR1/2 alongside Worthy's deep threat (4.21 40-time) and Rice's versatility. He serves as a Kelce-like safety valve for Mahomes
32) Philadelphia Eagles	Edge, CB, S, RB, WR	Malaki Starks, S, Georgia	6007, 197 lbs, 4.50 40-time, RAS 5.29
The Eagles cruised to a Super Bowl championship with the NFL's most complete and dominant roster. The pieces are in place for another run, but adding some more playmakers on both sides of the ball will make them even more dangerous.	The pass rush and o-line were the main reasons for their Super Bowl championship, so look for them to add to that well and take the best available playmaker and find another pass rusher to add to the mix.	Starks is an instinctive free safety with elite range and ball skills, recording 3 INTs in 2024, though his slight frame limits box play; he was a team captain at Georgia in 20	Fit: Starks' centerfield ability would plug right into the Super Bowl Champs secondary, giving them another defensive playmaker.

1	30	MAXWELL HAIRSTON	CB	KENTUCKY	5112	183	4.28	9.63	92/70
		Lock Down Coverage Cat Like Instincts Speed to burn Undersized/ Injury risk	Hairston is an instinctive corner with elite ball skills, recording 6 INTs (3 pick-sixes) over 2023-24, though his slight frame and tackling inconsistencies need work; he suffered a shoulder injury in 2024, limiting him to seven games			Hairston's zone coverage instincts and turnover creation fit McDermott and Babich's Zone based 4-3 defense, pairing with Benford to disrupt passing lanes, supporting Brady's offense by generating takeaways while line needs are addressed later.			Man or zone coverage
2	41	T.J. SANDERS	DT	S CAROLINA	6037	305	4.95	9.38	88/75
		Elite PLayer Strength Hits like hammer High Football IQ Explosive Burst Work Ethic ?	Powerful defensive tackle with good leverage and run-stuffing ability. Has an explosive first step and plays with power, leverag and burst. Needs to develop a broader pass-rush plan. Bills 30			3 Tech to rotate with Oliver and provide some pass rush and run stuffing juice. Fits the mold of D-lineman the Bills target, preferring gap shooting/ disruptive athletes to bigger, lane clogging people eaters in the middle. They stil have a whole behind DaQuan at 1 Tech, but may be addressed on day 3.			4-3 or 3-4 defense
3	72	LANDON JACKSON	EDGE	ARKANSAS	6060	264	4.68	9.78	88/75
		Elite PLayer Strength Hits like a hammer Non stop engine Freakish athleticism Up and Down Tape	Versatile defensive lineman with size, power, and a high motor. Has length and a rare atheltic profile, as proven by his RAS of 9.78. Pass-rush creativity remains underdeveloped. Victor Zsasz. Bills 30			Bills traded up for Sanders, by trading down with their later 2nd rounder. If they had stayed, there is a high likelihood that Jackson would have been taken there. Jackson is a natural weak side pass rusher, soemthing that didnt currently have.			4-3 or 3-4 defense
4	109	DEONE WALKER	DT	KENTUCKY	6074	328	5.35	3.74	88/75
		Massive Strength Planet Theory Raw Elite PLayer Strength Injury History (Back)	Massive interior defender with elite size and raw power. Pass-rush moves and agility need development. He was another Bills 30 visitor, SEC and Senior Bowl attendee.			He won't be shooting through gaps to get to the QB, but he has the kind of raw power that will clog lanes, and withstand double teams at the point of attack to free up Oliver and TJ, and keep Milano and Bernard clean on the second level. I have been pounding the table for years for the Bills to draft a big man of Walker's profile.			4-3 or 3-4 defense
